Citizen participation enriches the social capital of our community. The degree of volunteerism and the extent of willing cooperation among agencies and organizations in Springfield and Greene County are, if not unique, unusual and noteworthy. Citizen involvement creates information networks and fuels collective action; these strengthen our ability to be truly self-governing.

Voter registration is strong and for the presidential election in November 2004, sixty-nine percent of registered voters came out to the polls. The League of Women Voters publishes two periodicals a year, maintains a website, provides displays at our public libraries, and broadcasts a weekly radio show. Over 1,500 volunteer hours were given to these endeavors.

Volunteers Make a Difference

Springfield is the beneficiary of generous individuals and groups working collaboratively to deal with observed needs. No job is too small or great for volunteers, who do such diverse things as clear Greenways trails, build Habitat houses and usher at theaters.

Volunteering fosters our ability to trust one another, increases our commitment to shared goals, and expands our vision about what can and should be done to shape our community. Springfield/Greene County’s civic life is rich in social capital; it strengthens our connections to one another and provides resources for maintaining the health of our community. The following is a representative accounting of volunteer activities and hours.
SPRINGFIELD PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Parent-Teacher Associations
Operate in Each School: 8,927 members (2004)
Volunteers in Springfield Public Schools: 1,319 registered volunteers
54,783 volunteer hours logged

Members of the community are also generous with their money and resources. Numerous individuals and foundations give to worthy projects and organizations.

CFO Grants and Distributions, 2004: $4.7 million

In response to needs identified in the 2004 Community Focus Report, CFO has pledged $1 million in unrestricted funds to tackle community red flags over the next four years. CFO anticipates awarding annually, an additional $600,000 (approximately) in discretionary grants for projects addressing the red flags noted in this report.

UNITED WAY OF THE OZARKS (UWO)

United Way of the Ozarks has partnered with many of its current member agencies since its origin in 1930. In 2004 the UWO raised $3,372,514 and managed an additional $2,174,951 in grants and contracts in collaboration with Community Partnership. The 26 member agencies generated 1,406,284 volunteer hours through the efforts of 23,235 volunteers. Day of Caring alone had 1,400 volunteers painting, cleaning trails, and building structures. UWO is the only United Way known to include both endowment and grant initiatives (Cancer Fund, Children and Youth, Women’s Initiative, and Children’s Dental Fund) in its annual campaign.

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE OF SPRINGFIELD

The Junior League of Springfield (JLS), an organization of women, has impacted our community since April 1959. League members identify unmet needs, forge effective coalitions, and work together for change. Since 1959, the League has grown from 31 to 600 members (160 active), given over $2 million and volunteered more than 1 million hours of time to the community. In 2004, JLS assisted 14 non-profit agencies with resources and volunteers.

As a result of last year’s Community Focus report, the Junior League of Springfield will be addressing the issue of child abuse and neglect for the next three to five years.

Faith-Based Organizations

COUNCIL OF CHURCHES OF THE OZARKS

The Council of Churches of the Ozarks is a 36-year-old umbrella organization sponsored by 84 area churches and supported by funds raised from the community at large. It currently administers nine social action projects, including Ozarks Food Harvest, Crosslines, and Daybreak Adult Day Care.

CHURCHES OF SPRINGFIELD

Churches of Springfield represents a group of individuals from some 70 churches who provide 200 reading tutors for Springfield Public School children, grades K-3, one day per week. These volunteers also address the five-year maintenance needs in a designated school, as identified by city leaders, in a one-day annual megaproject involving more than 200 people.
